On this Sunday, “Low Sunday,” let us reflect on an excerpt of a homily about St. Thomas the Apostle by the great Doctor of the Church, St. John Chrysostom:

“What therefore did the [apostles] say to Thomas? We have seen the Lord! Well, he told them, even if you saw Him, I certainly will not believe the rest. Having seen him, do you preach Him? As for me, unless I behold His hands the mark of the nails and place my finger in the mark of the nails, and place my hand into His side, I will not believe. For you did not believe until you first saw Him, and thus with me, I will not believe until I see. Hold on, O Thomas, with this fever, and hold on well, that you might see and that I might confirm you in soul. Hold on and seek Him Who says: ‘Seek and ye shall find.’ Do not stand by simply as an observer; if you do not find the treasure Whom you seek. Hold on and knock at the door of indisputable knowledge, until He opens to you. Who says: ‘Knock, and the door will be opened to you.’ I embrace these senseless thoughts, that cut away every senselessness; I love the manner by which you wish to learn, which dashes apart every love of strife; and I especially hear you who say many times: ‘Unless I see in His hands the marks of the nails, I will not believe.’”

For by your doubting, I am taught to believe; by your forked-tongue that revealed the wound on the divine body that was pierced, I harvest the fruit for myself without pain. [For you said] unless I see with my eyes the wounds in his holy hands, then the impious would question, without accepting our words. Unless I place this my finger into the marks of the nails, then they will not receive our Gospel. Unless I place this my hand into that side, the untrampling witness of the resurrection, they will not believe my words...From now on, people will be preached of the wonders of the teacher: how will they accept without seeing with their eyes? How will the faithless come to believe, and ultimately follow Him Whom I did? Will I say to the Judeans and Greeks that the Crucified One and my Master is risen, but I did not see Him, but simply heard of Him? And who will not laugh at my voice? Who will not ignore my preaching? It is one thing to hear and another to see. It is one thing to receive words, and another to see and touch something. Therefore, doubt conquered the mind of Thomas, and after eight days again the Master appeared to His disciples who were gathered together. He left Thomas during these days to be preached to by the others, and to fill him with the thirst. For the vision of Him, and His soul was greatly inflamed with the desire to see. Therefore, at the proper time, the one who was desiring perceived of the One Who is desired.”

May the Risen Jesus, who is both our Lord and God, continue to bless you abundantly in this Easter Season!

FINDING OF THE HOLY CROSS

The Holy Cross on which Our Lord was crucified was first discovered by Saint Helena in the year 326. A Roman emperor, Hadrian, about two hundred years before, in order to stop Christians from venerating the mount of Calvary where Jesus was crucified, had raised a large mound of earth over it and dedicated a temple there to the goddess Venus. When Saint Helena arrived in Jerusalem, with the help of Saint Macarius, Bishop of that city, she had the Temple of Venus destroyed. She hired two hundred workmen and one hundred soldiers to dig into the ground, and they found the Holy Cross on which Our Lord was crucified.

A large part of the Cross was placed in a church in Jerusalem. It was stolen in 615 by Chosroes, a king of the Persians. After many prayers and fasts, and a battle to recover it, the Emperor Heraclius defeated Chosroes and brought back the Holy Cross to Jerusalem, fourteen years after it was stolen. This was in the year 629. Part of the Cross was kept in Jerusalem, but a great part of it was brought to the Church of the Holy Cross of Jerusalem in Rome.

Along with the finding of the True Cross, Saint Helena also found the nails which were in Jesus’ hands and in His feet when He died, the spear that pierced His side, and the inscription placed above the head of Jesus on the Cross, which proclaimed him, “Jesus of Nazareth, the King of the Jews.” The nails are kept in churches in Europe. One of them is in the iron Crown of Lombardy. The spear which pierced Our Lord’s side is kept in one of the pillars of the Vatican in Rome. The inscription over Our Lord’s sacred head is kept in the Church of the Holy Cross of Jerusalem in Rome.

DRESS POLICY ~ When attending any functions at the chapel, especially Holy Mass, you are in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament. Please dress accordingly, with due modesty and respect. Everyone should refrain from jeans, shorts or T-shirts. Ladies, please use a head covering, available in the rear of the church either for loan or for purchase.

*If you are new to the chapel, Welcome.
New parishioners please consult Father Safreed before the reception of sacraments.*

Remember, also, Lord, Your servants and handmaids below who are gone hence before us, marked with the sign of faith, and sleep the sleep of peace. To them, Lord and to all that rest in Christ, grant, we implore You a place of happiness, light and peace through the same Christ our Lord. Amen.
