Fifth Sunday After Pentecost

GOSPEL Matt. 5:20-24 At that time, Jesus said to His disciples: "Unless your justice abound more than that of the scribes and Pharisees, you shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. You have heard that it was said to them of old: 'Thou shalt not kill.' And whosoever shall kill, shall be in danger of the judgment. But I say to you, that whosoever is angry with his brother, shall be in danger of the judgment. And whosoever shall say to his brother, 'Raca,' shall be in danger of the council. And whosoever shall say, 'Thou fool', shall be in danger of hell fire.

If therefore thou offer thy gift at the altar, and there thou remember that thy brother hath anything against thee; Leave there thy offering before the altar, and go first to be reconciled to thy brother, and then coming thou shalt offer thy gift."

St. Anthony Mary Zaccaria

Among the early movers of the Counter-Reformation was Anthony Zaccaria. His mother became a widow at 18 and devoted herself to the spiritual education of her son. He received a medical doctorate at 22, and while working among the poor of his native Cremona in Italy, was attracted to the religious apostolate. He renounced his rights to any future inheritance, worked as a catechist, and was ordained a priest at the age of 26.

Called to Milan in a few years, he laid the foundations of three religious congregations, one for men, one for women, and an association of married couples. Their aim was the reform of the decadent society of their day, beginning with the clergy, religious, and lay people.

Greatly inspired by Saint Paul—his congregation is named the Barnabites, after the companion of that saint. Anthony preached with great vigor in church and street, conducted popular missions, and was not ashamed of doing public penance.

He encouraged such innovations as the collaboration of the laity in the apostolate, frequent Communion, the Forty Hours devotion, and the ringing of church bells at 3:00 p.m. on Fridays. His holiness moved many to reform their lives, but as with all saints, it also moved many to oppose him. Twice his community had to undergo official religious investigation, and twice it was exonerated.

While on a mission of peace, he became seriously ill and was brought home for a visit to his mother. He died at Cremona at the age of 36.

Twenty-seven years after his death, his body was found to be incorrupt. His mortal remains are now enshrined at the Church of St. Barnabas in Milan, Italy. St. Anthony was canonized by Pope Leo XIII on 27 May 1897. His feast day is celebrated on 5 July.

Also following his death, a number of cures were attributed to the intercession of St. Anthony Mary Zaccaria. He is a patron saint of physicians.

Reflection

The austerity of Anthony's spirituality and the Pauline ardor of his preaching would probably "turn off" many people today. When even some psychiatrists complain at the lack of a sense of sin, it may be time to tell ourselves that not all evil is explained by emotional disorder, subconscious and unconscious drives, parental influence, and so on. The old-time "hell and damnation" mission sermons have given way to positive, encouraging, biblical homilies. We do indeed need assurance of forgiveness, relief from existential anxiety, and future shock. But we still need prophets to stand up and tell us, "If we say 'We are without sin,' we deceive ourselves and the truth is not in us" (John 1:8)

Fifth Sunday After Pentecost

ANNOUNCEMENTS

- Pray the Rosary for Peace. Join fellow parishioners every Tuesday at 3pm in the church to recite fifteen decades of the rosary. Our intentions are to ask God and his Blessed Mother for their protection of our country and our church against the force which is trying to destroy us. Please make an effort to attend as often as you can.
- If you are new to the Tridentine Mass, you may find the grey or green paperback missals, found in the pews, helpful in following the liturgy.
- Parishioners, friends and visitors are welcome to refreshments in the church hall following the 9:00 AM Mass.
- Visit our website. The web address can be found on the front page of the bulletin.
- Please consider including The Chapel of the Holy Family in your estate plans. The Chapel is grateful for your continuing support, which helps to preserve and sustain the Pre-Vatican II traditional liturgy & faith of the Roman Catholic Church in the Melbourne area.
- Church Veils - Looking for an inexpensive site to purchase church veils? www.veilbytradition.com

From the First Epistle of St. Peter: “But even if you should suffer for righteousness' sake, you will be blessed. Have no fear of them, nor be troubled, but in your hearts honor Christ the Lord as holy, always being prepared to make a defense to anyone who asks you for a reason for the hope that is in you; yet do it with gentleness and respect”.

Marriage and the truth of Christ: Yesterday I witnessed the marriage of a wonderful young couple. The Nuptial Mass was a Solemn Tridentine High Mass. And as I listened to the epistle which is from the sixth chapter of the Epistle of St Paul to the Ephesians, where Paul uses the analogy of the relationship of the man and woman in marriage to the relationship of Christ and his Church, and then listened to the gospel from St. Matthew that relates the discussion between Jesus and the Pharisees on marriage: “And He answered and said to them, ‘Have you not read that He who made them at the beginning 'made them male and female,' and said, 'For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh'? So then, they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore, what God has joined together, let not man separate.”(Mt. 19:3-9); once again the clarity of our Lord's teaching struck me. The teaching is clear: God ordains marriage as a human institution, and the bond of marriage is formed by God and is unbreakable.

As I listened to these traditional readings for the Nuptial Mass I could not help contrasting them with Justice Anthony Kennedy's written majority opinion in the Supreme Court's decision to declare "gay marriage" a fundamental right. I had read the opinion previously. I had little doubt that this is how things would turn out, since these decisions lately have little to do with law and everything to do with promoting a social agenda as members of the court see fit. We live in an age in which Tradition with a capital T is always trounced by the “pursuit of happiness”. Kennedy's reasoning never addressed the origin and history of marriage as a human institution and certainly not as a religious institution. That he nowhere mentioned procreation as a basic element in the institution of marriage and one of the reasons for the human institution of marriage was both remarkable and telling. The opinion was written in a way that was so sentimentally over the top that even those who favored "gay marriage" must have cringed at his words. The basic premise is that everyone has the right to be happy, and if not being able to be married gets in the way of that right, then the obstacle must be removed.

It is true that the Declaration of Independence speaks of the pursuit of happiness as one of the unalienable rights of man within a section of that document penned by Thomas Jefferson who probably got it from the English philosopher John Locke. But whatever else we can say about these two personages, both Jefferson and Locke believed that happiness could not be separated from moral virtue. For them the state of being happy was not a subjective state of elation, not a feeling of contentment. It was rather the result of living a life according to the moral law. St. Thomas Aquinas insists on the relationship between happiness and virtue. Perfect happiness (beatitudo) is not possible in this lifetime, but only in the afterlife for those who achieve a direct perception of God. There can, however, be an imperfect happiness (felicitas) attainable in this lifetime, in proportion to the exercise of Reason (contemplation of truth) and the exercise of virtue. From Rorate Coeli, Fr. Cipolla.

*If you are new to the chapel, Welcome.
New parishioners please consult Father Safreed before the reception of sacraments.*

Remember, also, Lord, Your servants and handmaids below who are gone hence before us, marked with the sign of faith, and sleep the sleep of peace. To them, Lord and to all that rest in Christ, grant, we implore You a place of happiness, light and peace through the same Christ our Lord. Amen.

Our Mother of Perpetual Help

- In 1865, the icon of OMPH was entrusted to the Redemptorists by Pope Pius IX with the mandate "make her known throughout the world"
- Feast day on June 27th
- Original icon in church of Sant' Alfonso di Liguori in Rome

O God Who hast willed that the Mother of Thine Only-begotten Son should be the perpetual succor of Christians on earth, grant us grace to call on her with confidence in all our necessities of soul and body, so that, saved through her protection and assistance, we may be brought to the everlasting vision of Thy glory in Heaven, through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen.
